Introduction

The Internal Capital and Liquidity Adequacy Assessment Process (ICLAAP) is a critical element of risk governance for banks and financial institutions under Basel III and related regulatory frameworks. It ensures that institutions maintain adequate capital and liquidity buffers relative to their risk profiles, even under stressed conditions.

This focused 2-day training equips participants with a deep understanding of ICLAAP components, regulatory expectations, and practical steps to implement robust frameworks. The course explores risk identification, capital planning, liquidity stress testing, and supervisory review processes.

Objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Understand the principles and regulatory context of ICLAAP under Basel III
- Design an integrated framework for internal capital and liquidity assessment
- Identify and quantify material risks affecting capital and liquidity
- Conduct stress testing and scenario analysis
- Align ICLAAP with risk appetite, business strategy, and supervisory expectations

Why Attend

- Learn how to implement a compliant and effective ICLAAP framework
- Strengthen your institution's capital and liquidity planning processes
- Anticipate regulatory scrutiny and enhance governance practices
- Improve integration between risk, finance, treasury, and business units
- Apply best practices for documentation, stress testing, and internal review

Target Audience

This program is designed for:

- Risk and capital management professionals
- Treasury and liquidity risk managers
- Internal audit and compliance officers
- Finance managers and regulatory reporting teams
- Bank executives involved in ICAAP/ILAAP/ICLAAP oversight

Individual Benefits

Key competencies that will be developed include:

- Risk-based capital and liquidity assessment
- Stress testing methodologies and scenario development
- Regulatory interpretation and documentation best practices
- Interdepartmental coordination for risk aggregation
- Strategic risk-capital alignment and board reporting

Organizational Benefits

Upon completing the training course, participants will demonstrate:

- Enhanced capital adequacy and liquidity risk planning
- Improved compliance with prudential regulatory expectations
- Stronger alignment between business strategy and risk capacity
- Better preparedness for supervisory dialogue and SREP
- Integrated approach to enterprise risk and financial resilience

Instructional Methodology

The course follows a blended learning approach combining theory with practice:
