Introduction

This 5-day intensive course is designed to equip banking professionals with the practical skills and strategic understanding necessary to manage bank balance sheets effectively through Asset and Liability Management (ALM). Participants will explore the interplay between liquidity, interest rate risk, funding strategies, and capital adequacy within the ALM framework.

With evolving regulatory environments, tightening margins, and market volatility, effective ALM is a critical success factor. This training emphasizes hands-on approaches to measuring, managing, and optimizing interest rate risk (IRR), liquidity coverage (LCR/NSFR), and behavioral modeling of assets and liabilities.

Objectives

By the end of the course, participants will be able to:

- Understand the strategic role of ALM in financial institutions
- Analyze and manage interest rate and liquidity risk in balance sheets
- Apply gap, duration, and earnings-at-risk models
- Integrate FTP (Funds Transfer Pricing) into ALM frameworks
- Optimize capital usage and ensure regulatory compliance

Why Attend

- Learn how to balance growth, profitability, and risk using ALM tools
- Gain practical experience in building IRR and liquidity risk models
- Stay updated with Basel III/IV ALM requirements (NSFR, LCR, IRRBB)
- Understand the connection between ALM, treasury, and profitability
- Enhance decision-making for deposits, lending, funding, and capital allocation
