Introduction

This comprehensive training program equips professionals with the knowledge and skills to perform thorough assessments of existing buildings. Through diagnostic techniques, field surveys, and reporting methods, participants will learn how to evaluate structural, architectural, and systems integrity to support maintenance, retrofitting, or acquisition decisions.

Objectives

- Understand the lifecycle and degradation patterns of building components
- Learn methods of non-destructive and visual inspections
- Identify safety, code compliance, and performance issues
- Develop and document actionable findings in professional reports
- Support decision-making for repair, maintenance, and asset management

Why Attend

- To gain a solid foundation in building diagnostics
- To improve your ability to spot early warning signs of failure
- To ensure safe occupancy and regulatory compliance
- To contribute to cost-effective asset lifecycle planning

Target Audience

- Civil, Structural & Facility Engineers
- Building Inspectors & Surveyors
- Maintenance and Asset Managers
- Real Estate Developers & Investors
- Urban Planners and Municipal Officials

Individual Benefits

- Develop hands-on skills in inspecting and evaluating building systems
- Build competence in writing and presenting assessment reports
- Expand professional knowledge aligned with safety and compliance

Organizational Benefits

- Enable proactive maintenance through accurate diagnostics
- Avoid unnecessary repairs by targeting real issues
- Enhance value, safety, and efficiency of built assets

Instructional Methodology

- Live demonstrations and technical walkthroughs
- Real-life case studies and inspection simulations
- Group discussions and best practice sharing
- Practical exercises and reporting practice
- Instructor-led presentations and guidance
