Introduction

Organizations often operate multiple management systems—such as quality, environmental, health & safety, and information security—which can lead to duplication, inefficiencies, and increased costs. PAS 99 provides a framework for integrating these management systems, improving operational efficiency, and enhancing organizational performance.

This course provides participants with practical guidance on developing, implementing, and operating integrated management systems in line with PAS 99. Participants will learn to streamline processes, align objectives across systems, and ensure compliance with regulatory and industry requirements. Through case studies, workshops, and interactive exercises, attendees will gain hands-on experience in managing integrated systems effectively.

Objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Understand the principles and benefits of integrated management systems (IMS).
- Identify opportunities for integration across multiple management systems.
- Apply PAS 99 framework to design and implement an effective IMS.
- Develop procedures, policies, and documentation for integrated systems.
- Align organizational objectives with management system requirements.
- Monitor, measure, and improve system performance.
- Ensure compliance with regulatory and industry standards.
- Promote a culture of continual improvement across all management systems.
